WHAT'S DOING
R. S. Pyle, your Telephone Manager in Torrance

Here's one way to go from coast to coast and not leave town. This young lady will soon call lots of places every day on her new job as a long distance operator. Here she's at a practice switchboard, training with a phone woman who learned the job in this way too. Other new people starting out in the telephone business will get training for different jobs—and get paid while learning. It's the first step in helping them build fine careers for themselves. And, of course, good training like this means good service for you.

Planning to move? It's a good time to get that extension phone you've been thinking about. At no extra installation charge, we'll put in an extension phone—or two or three—when we install your new service. So if you'd like to start planning where you'd like those new phones, why not call your service representative at the telephone office, or talk to your telephone service man.

MODERN LIFE WITH FATHER

Each year at this time, it seems we bemoan the fact that Dear Old Dad appears to be going downhill. Far from the stern disciplinarian and center of the household that he used to be, father these days, it would seem, is largely taken for granted. Ma votes, works too, sometimes, and according to statistics wields the real whip over the family finances. There's the father, perhaps legendary, who recently came out foursquare in favor of "Equal Rights for Women." He figured the girls who have to lose a few. Sunday next, dad is due to get his annual tribute in a 24-hour celebration, marked with increasingly guilty fervor, it seems, as "Father's Day." The rite is replete with masculine gifts and often includes a temporary cessation of mental chores. In the gift line, as a forward step, we might respectfully suggest a personal telephone call in an effort to atone in part for the other 364 days of oblivion. Or perhaps an extension telephone for that den to which father now retires in solitary splendor to dream of the good old days when his home was his castle and he was king.
